

4,000 BARGE TOTS NEVER IN SCHOOL

Witnesses Tell U. S. Commission of Illiteracy Among River Folk.

ELDERS TRADE IN COCAINE, ONE CHARGE

Instance of "Holding Out" on Longshoremen Alleged by One Union Organizer.

An extensive interstate traffic in cocaine and other drugs is carried on by coal barge crews, according to the testimony of Walter R. Holt, organizer of the International Longshoremen's Union, before the United States Commission on Industrial Relations yesterday.

He declared conditions on coal barges are often revolting, and cited one instance of eight persons, four of them adults, living in one small cabin. He said there are 4,000 children on the barges and canal boats operating out of New York who never have had an opportunity to attend school and who are subjected to degrading influences of dives.

The life of a longshoreman in this port was fixed at fifteen years after he began the work—if he is healthy and robust to start with. Conditions surrounding them here are worse than those in other large cities, witnesses said. Charles E. Barnes, special investigator for the commission, placed the responsibility largely with the line owners.

Holt charged a specific instance of "holding out" on the workers. He said that 133 longshoremen employed by the New York White Coal Company were paid $3.85 short after six weeks' work.

"I went to the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant," he continued, "and asked him to take the matter up with officials of the company. I did this because E. J. Berwind was a member of his congregation. Mr. Grant had an interview with Mr. Berwind and then came and told us that nothing could be done."

He said it was a common occurrence for some men to pay foremen for their jobs, and that some foremen discriminated against some of the men.

"Conditions could not be worse," testified Dennis Delaney, an officer of the Seamen's Institute, "in the abuse from foremen and men being 'rushed' by the bosses."

Joseph R. Franklin, organizer of the International Longshoremen's Association, told the commissioners he had seen men so startled by the curses of foremen that they jumped overboard. Holding up a hand, the tips of four fingers of which were missing, he exclaimed: "That occurred the same way. A boss yelled and the winchman started to soon."

F. W. Hervey, who testified on Monday, was recalled. He is a manager for the Bush Terminal Dock Company.

"The responsibility for existing conditions," he said, "lies first with the city, then with the state, and then with the national government."

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman asked Murtha Fortune, another witness, what class of men predominated among longshoremen. "The Italians," he replied, "but the Irish make the best."

"Where were you born?" asked Mrs. Harriman, smiling.

"County Wexford, Ireland," was the prompt answer.

Miss Mary O. Hay, formerly connected with the Society for Improving the Condition of the Poor, told about the coal barge children who had no opportunity to go to school, a large majority of whose parents also are illiterate.

Daniel Sullivan, an officer of the Longshoremen's Union, said that not long ago his knee had been injured and he was laid off for six weeks. The company that employed him offered him $15 in compensation; he refused the offer, brought suit for $50 and was defeated.

R. G. Palfrey, first assistant superintendent of the Cunard Company, testified that the method of hiring men obtaining in Liverpool could be applied to New York under "certain conditions," one of which was willingness of the transportation companies to pay the increased cost of employment. He did not think the life of a longshoreman particularly hazardous.

SHOWER OF SILVER PELTS SUFFRAGISTS

Wall Street Gives Substantial Greeting to W. P. U. Orator Who Speaks Well of Men.

A shower of silver drenched suffragists who invaded Wall st. yesterday. So interested were the thousands of more men who gathered in front of the Sub-Treasury to hear the Women's Political Union orators at its weekly noon meeting that they couldn't wait for the girls who went through the crowd passing the hat. They pressed around the speakers' automobile and threw dimes, quarters and half-dollars into it.

One man was so pleased when Miss Helen Todd, of California, declared the suffragists put entire faith in the men of the East and their sense of justice that he gave a crisp dollar bill.

The money shower amounted to about $11, pretty good, the suffragists said, for a district which two years ago gave them only hoots and howls.

At the end of her speech Miss Todd asked every one in favor of votes for women to raise his hand. About five hundred went up, among them three white-gloved ones belonging to policemen detailed to the meeting.

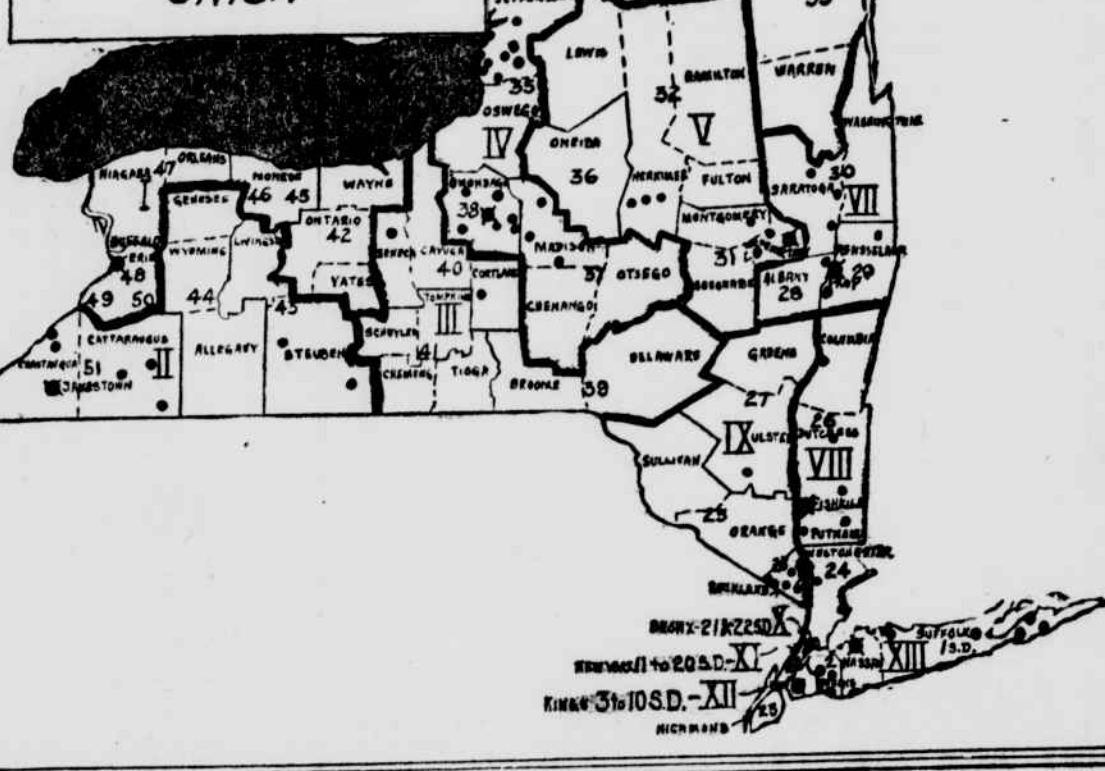

Next Tuesday the W. P. U. leaders, dressed in white, will parade from the Franklin statue, in front of the Tribune Building, to Wall st. To-day they will cover some of the uptown district, but they won't walk. They are going to ride in a "rubberneck" wagon. Starting from the W. P. U. headquarters, 25 West 45th st., at 12:15 o'clock, they will make for Madison Square, where they will have a meeting at 12:30. Thence they will go to Broadway and 46th st. at 2:30, to Fifth av. at 3:45 and to Columbus Circle at 4.

Some of the women who are going are Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse, Miss Alice Carpenter, Mrs. John Winters Brannan, Mrs. Henry Wise Miller, Mrs. Henry Butterworth, Mrs. E. Livingston Hunt, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Mrs. Anna Constable and Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch. Miss Rosie Sanderman will blow her bugle from the front seat, and will also be megaphone through which attention to anti-suffrage as the Union League.

CAMPAIGN DISTRICTS OF THE EMPIRE STATE COMMITTEE

CAMPAIGN DISTRICTS OF THE WOMEN'S POLITICAL UNION

SUFFRAGE PARTIES AT ODDS OVER STATE "MAPS OF DOUBT"

Campaign Districts Laid Out by Rival Factions Conflict—Mrs. Catt's Followers Aroused by Action of Mrs. Blatch's Aids in Territorial Claims.

The rivalry between the Empire State campaign committee and the Women's Political Union for the conduct of the votes-for-women campaign in 1915 is now written in black and white on a map of the state.

Indignation was aroused yesterday in the ranks of the followers of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt when it was discovered that the Women's Political Union, of which Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch is president, had published a campaign map with an entirely different set of divisions from those on the campaign map issued by the committee. A poor, benighted man, say on Long Island, who has had it pounded into his head all winter by the campaign committee that he belongs in the second campaign district, now faces the prospect of being buttonholed by the Women's Political Union and informed that he belongs in the thirteenth campaign district.

According to Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, of the Woman Suffrage party, which is affiliated with the campaign committee, this move of the Women's Political Union will cause great confusion.

"I won't suggest that it was done with a purpose," she said, "because it may have been done unintentionally by upstate workers for the union, without Mrs. Blatch's consent, or it may be that the union does not read 'The Woman Voter' and therefore is in ignorance of the fact that the campaign committee has been publishing its map every month since the end of last year. The union's map appears in the issue of 'The Woman's Political World' for May 15. It was just called to my attention this morning by Mrs. Raymond Brown.

"It is very strange, certainly; that is all I'll say. And it is also very inefficient.

"It would be very serious if the referendum were close at hand. However, I am sure that before the fall of 1915 the stress of battle will have drawn both parties together and there will be no more friction. There are so many cross friendships in the two organizations that any serious rivalry would be most unfortunate. There are cases not only of friends in opposite ranks, but even of sisters, as Mrs. Francis Maule Bjorkman, who is working for the campaign committee, and Mrs. Florence Maule Cooley for the union.

"The union has been offered co-operation with the campaign committee and has refused it. The committee even offered to withdraw from certain districts and leave the union in control there.

"In some districts the union is very strongly organized; in others it is a joke. Down in Nassau County, where the cam-

Overcome by Gases from Creek

Mrs. Sarah Pelt was overcome by gases arising from Newtown Creek while scrubbing the floor of the cabin of a barge anchored off Flushing ave., Long Island City, yesterday afternoon. She was taken to St. John's Hospital and revived with difficulty. She was unable to leave the hospital for several days.

Curran Committee Aid Gets Off. George A. Sipp, whose experiences in keeping a disorderly hotel in Harlem enabled him to give the Curran committee sensational testimony, and who played an important part in the trial and conviction of a disorderly conduct made against him dismissed yesterday. Sipp got into an altercation Monday with Michael Gottleib, president of the Carpenter Furniture Company, 57 to 59 East 14th st., over a loan of $25.00 he had made to this company. "You know what happened to the four inspectors, and that is what will happen to you," is one of the remarks Gottleib told Magistrate McAdoo Sipp made to him. The magistrate decided that no disorderly conduct had been proved.
